MAKE YOUR LIFE
SUCCESSFUL

Muniba mazari says "The secret of happiness is being grateful for what you have, not what you don't have or what you've lost."

On 27 February 2008, Muniba and her husband were travelling from Quetta to Rahim Yar Khan. Their car met with an accident, in which she sustained several major injuries, including broken bones in her arm rib-cage, shoulder blade, collarbone and spine. Her lungs and liver were also deeply cut. Moreover, her entire lower body was left paralysed. She was taken to a nearby hospital, which was ill-equipped to deal with such a severe case. She was then moved to a hospital in Rahim Yar Khan, and eventually, she was admitted to the Agha Khan Hospital, Karachi.

Post-surgery, she was left bed-ridden for two years. Physiotherapy started, which helped her recover enough to use a wheelchair. After treatment for her injuries, Muniba moved to Rawalpindi. In 2011, four years after the accident, she adopted her son, Nael. He loves football and when they got the very first football he was 4 years old and he was super excited. She still remember how he has came into the room and said, Mom let's play football and he kept the ball in her feet and he said let's kick the ball and that day she felt disabled.

She said to her son, "I can't kick the ball" and he said, "well that's all right your legs or not working but you hands do". let's play catch the ball
